

Cathy Anderson

Cathy Anderson
*Chief Financial Officer,
University of Utah*

Cathy Anderson became chief financial officer for the University of Utah in 2019. In this role, she has responsibility for ensuring efficient and effective use of institutional resources—financial, facilities, space and data—to advance the U’s mission. Anderson also works in close partnership with the president and two senior vice presidents on the overall university budget and advises on strategies and actions that enable sound financial management and advancement of the entire institution’s mission. Anderson formerly served as chief financial officer for main campus; associate vice president for budget and planning; and associate dean for finance and administration in the School of Medicine. She was the chief financial officer for Cimarron Software before joining the U. Anderson has a bachelor’s degree and an MBA from the University of Utah.

Marlon Lynch

Marlon Lynch
*Chief Security Officer,
University of Utah*

As the inaugural Chief Safety Officer, Marlon is responsible for the oversight and coordination of all campus safety initiatives, as well as supervising the university's public safety divisions. Prior to joining the U in February 2020 as the inaugural Chief Safety Officer, Marlon served as Senior Vice President of Campus Services and Safety at New York University. Previously, he was the associate vice president for Safety and Security and Civic Affairs at the University of Chicago and has served as chief of police at three universities. He has a bachelor’s degree in criminal justice from Michigan State University and master’s degree in criminal justice administration from Boston University and is a graduate of the FBI National Academy and the Northwestern University School of Police Staff & Command.